

Resources

Testing, Testing

Jay Derrick, Peter Lavender and Barry Brooks

This discussion paper brings together three differing contributions to the debate about what approach to assessment is best suited to strengthen the skills and confidence of adult learners of basic skills – particularly summative and formative assessment and tests. With discussion questions and recommendations for future development.

Expected March. £8.95.

Publication sales, NIACE, 21 de Montfort Street, Leicester LE1 7EG.
Tel 0116 2044 216.
Email: orders@niace.org.uk

NIACE Lifelines

A new set of Lifelines publications. They are:

- Lifelines 10: Working with Asian heritage communities. David McNulty
- Lifelines 11: Learning and community arts. Tony Fegan
- Lifelines 12: Museums and community learning. Garrick Fincham
- Lifelines 13: Developing needs based library service. John Pateman

A popular series of practical guides for practitioners in adult and community learning. Each £6.95.

Publication sales, NIACE, 21 de Montfort Street, Leicester LE1 7EG.
Tel 0116 2044 216.
Email: orders@niace.org.uk

Reaching out with basic skills: A guide to community-focused basic skills work with socially excluded groups

A practical handbook using experience from basic skills projects funded through the Adult and Community Learning Fund. Ref A1411. £4.50. It also has an accompanying video (ref. A1519) £4.50

Available from the Basic skills Agency website: /www.basic-skills.co.uk
Or telephone: 0870 600 2400

NEC CD ROMS

■ Numbers for Life

Adult core curriculum entry level 2–3. An interactive CD ROM designed around 6 everyday scenarios: visiting the bank, the shopping centre, the supermarket, a DIY store, a garden centre, and the post Office. Encourages students to practise and apply skills.

ISBN 1 84308 121 0

■ Life Skills in the Workplace: Catering

A New CD ROM produced by NEC and Dudley College, specifically developed for the catering industry .Covers adult numeracy level 1.

Each product: Standalone £75.00, Networked £350.00

Published by NEC. Telephone: 01223 400300; fax: 01223 400321.
www.nec.ac.uk/resources

A Directory of Workplace Basic Skills in the South East

This groundbreaking directory covers workplace providers in the South East.

It covers FE college, adult education, voluntary and private sector providers. It gives information on the courses provided, their length, which aspects they cover: literacy, numeracy, IT and ESOL. It specifies whether the courses are accredited, accessibility of funding.

It covers a wide area, reaching from Hampshire and the Isle of Wight up to Milton Keynes & Oxfordshire, and across to Kent & Medway (excluding London).

The directory is part funded by SEEDA (the South East England Development Agency) and is published by Workplace Basic Skills Network.

For further information, contact Stacy O'Brien at the Workplace Basic Skills Network, CSET Cartmel College, Lancaster University.

Tel: 01524 592719 or see:
www.lancs.ac.uk/wbsnet.